

Talking to your aging parents about all the financial issues that affect them is often very risky and difficult to do. Can We Talk? by Bob Mauterstock gives adult children a practical and empathetic approach for working with their parents to discuss and plan for all the financial decisions they will face. The book lays out the steps to prepare and hold a family meeting to open up the lines of communication. It addresses such critical areas as proper investment strategy, legal issues that can impact the family, creating a plan to deal with the devastating costs of long-term care, and passing on a legacy to the next generation. Bob calls on his 30 years of experience as a financial advisor to share real-life situations he and his clients have faced and how they developed practical solutions to solve them. Can We Talk? will give you the tools you need to put your aging parents at ease and give you the peace of mind to know that they are taken care of.
